The coming week will be preparatory to Easter in every sense of the word and milliners and dressmakers and tailors will be the beneficiaries of so-ciety's visits. The only affairs scheduled to mitigate at all against this self-consciousness, are the Lenten Easter market, to be given next Saturday, by the ladles of the Second Presbyterian church, and the M-reantile full dress ball Wednesday evening, at Arion hall, and the production of "The Christian," Saturday night, at the Opera House. The week ending was conspicuous as the duliest of the winter from the viewpoint of social gatherings. The Woman's Club concert and "Three Little Lambs" being the only opportunities.

The charity evert of the coming week will occur next Saturday, under the auspices of the ladies of the Sec-ond Presbyterian church. It is booked as the "Easter Market," and every delleacy for the table will be on sale, hav ing been prepared by many of the best cooks of the city. It is a well known fact that nothing ever bought at one of the markets held under the sponsorship of these same ladies has been a disappointment, and it goes without saying that an immense paironage will be extended them, as deserved.

The following dancing sets have arranged with Professor George M. Delbrugge for another half term to end May 12: The Married People's class; the Cotillion: the Monday Night class; the Monday afternoon physical culture class; the Mercantile and the Junior
